

THE HISTORY OF FAIRWAY SUPPLY, INC.

Fairway Supply, Inc. (FSI) was opened in 1980 catering to the needs of the Locksmith Industry. The company has grown and diversified to become the largest wholesaler of residential and commercial security hardware products in the Southwest. Fairway has expanded and added locations in Houston, Austin and Nashville to the original Dallas headquarter location. Through the expansion, Fairway operations occupy over 70,000 square feet of warehouse and office facilities. FSI offers all major brands of security hardware products including mechanical, electronic, patented key systems and detention hardware. Technical support and Service Maintenance Agreements are also available to insure the integrity of your access control system. We have developed our expertise to include door and frame installation and removal as well as installation of all access controls systems. Regardless of your door opening needs, Fairway has the solution.

THE SECURITY PROFESSIONAL SUPPLIER

Access Control

Fairway Supply, Inc. offers many solutions to control entry and satisfy the needs of countless applications. We are able to provide solutions from one opening to multiple openings by using our wide inventory of manufacturers of mechanical locks, stand alone access control and monitored systems. As the security industry evolves, so does our commitment to updating and improving your specific system.

Hollow Metal Doors

Fairway Supply, Inc. is a stocking distributor for hollow metal doors and frames including full flush, stile and rail, stainable steel, severe weather and fire-rated doors and frames. We stock a variety of frame profiles in welded and drywall frames as well as various door sizes to meet your facility's needs. A full fabrication shop in our Dallas office can customize any opening to meet your hollow metal requirements. In addition to hollow metal products, we offer FRP doors, toilet partitions & accessories and certified installation.

Wood Doors

We are also a stocking distributor for architectural wood doors. Inventories of unfinished birch, red oak and pre-finished brown birch are available and machined to match pre-finished style frames for immediate delivery. Plastic laminate, stile and rail, lead lined and sound rated doors complete our door offering. Our fabrication shop can machine lite kits, louvers and specialty locks to custom locations. We offer a pre-finished snap together frame for quick remodeling. As a value-added supplier, we offer our customers estimating, site surveys, take-offs and turnkey solutions by our certified technicians.

Service and Technical Support

Fairway Supply's trained staff of certified technicians offer a multitude of security services such as installation, service contracts and site surveys that can be customized. We provide service on new and existing openings from door and frame installation and removal as well as numerous types of hardware. Technical support is provided on all security products and software with dependable 24/7 service available.

Turnkey Security Solutions

Fairway Supply's factory certified and trained security technicians provide service and installation to fully compliment all mechanical and electronic access control systems. Despite your company's budget and/or manpower reductions, FSI provides you with the necessary support to help preserve the integrity and security of your facility.

High Security Key Systems

More than 30% of all theft occurs with no sign of forced entry. Entry was likely gained with an unauthorized copy of a key. The phrase "Do Not Duplicate" stamped on a key is more often overlooked by locksmiths and hardware store personnel and leave one with no legal recourse. Unauthorized key duplication can be controlled with a patented key system. FSI offers systems that can be maintained by your in-house personnel. Additionally, we offer complete turnkey service and system maintenance. FSI offers a variety of patented and high security key systems with professional consultation. A patented key system, a key control policy and an ability to monitor the distribution of keys insures you of a secure key system solution.

Leading Edge Technologies

The security industry has evolved rapidly in the last decade. Access control systems now include remote and software driven security devices. The software provides an audit trail capability that tracks individual entry times, unauthorized usage and limited access. Due to the increasing demands for higher technology in the security sector, this type of intelligent system requires continuous factory training. As a value-added service to our customers, FSI spares no expense in providing continuing education for our sales professionals and security technicians.

Integrated Systems

In order to meet the diverse needs of today's marketplace, FSI can customize solutions to integrate the most critical system data into manageable information. We are able to integrate access control, CCTV, intrusion detection, data networking and database management. When information from multiple sources is organized and presented in a central location customers are able to respond to emergency situations in an efficient and accurate manner. Our goal is to ensure complete facility security and safety that meets the needs and expectations of each specific customer and application.
